STORY

The idea behind the creation of Dungero was our favorite game "Curse of the Dead Gods", which we wanted to bring to the mobile platform. The prototype for the mobile version was the game "Archer0" for its simplicity and intuitive control.

At the same time, we wanted to further support all the RPG elements we love. For this reason, we created a system of altars and signposts that allow you to choose a playstyle for a given game and character. We've added resource mining, crafting advanced items using blueprints, and a magical item sets.

We developed a system of "corruption", i.e. the principle of reward and punishment, so that the player always has a choice. He can either choose a procedure with a rapid increase in skills and bonuses, for which he is penalized more by random curses, or slower tactical leveling with a smaller penalty. The primary abilities of the characters also affect the gameplay, so each game is completely different.
